To whom it may concern

We recently engaged the services of Pier Property Corporation (PPC) as the Project Manager and fit out contractor for our fit out and relocation project. The project entailed the co-location of a number of business units from multiple sites in addition to services upgrades and the fit out works.

PPC took the distraction of a major project away from the executive team and kept us informed and enabled us to focus on our day to day activities. Each department head was interviewed with the results forming a return brief where maximum reuse was achieved for considerable efficiencies.

PPC advised us on our AFL and make good obligations, managed the building manager and authorities requirements in addition to personally undertaking the design, procurement and building works.

The overall project was managed to a budget and delivered on time to a level of quality we are extremely pleased with. The relocation was managed over a single weekend with complete IT and communications systems operational by 8am Monday morning.

We were entirely satisfied with the service received from PPC and would gladly accept a phone call should you have any specific questions.
